Fresh cut flowers and trickling waterfalls fill the spa. Velvet neck pillows, chenille blankets and lemon-scented hot towels are offered to patients. And complimentary limo service is available for out-of-town clients.

The eleven cosmetic dental suites have picturesque views of the mansion's lovely landscaping.

"We know that exposure to nature has a calming effect on patients," says Dr. Richard N. Creasman, "and our goal is to make every aspect of their visit as soothing and enjoyable as possible."

innovative techniques in the industry, utilizing some of the best technology on the market.

The facility also houses a cosmetic dental laboratory with master ceramists, allowing the ACCD to have direct collaboration on cases and rapid turnaround on treatments.

"A great laboratory and master ceramist are crucial to realistic final results," says Dr. Debra Gray King, president and founder of the ACCD. "We want our client's smile to appear so naturally beautiful that people will only assume they were born with it."

The ACCD's relocation is part of the practice's continuous effort to accommodate the growing demand for cosmetic dentistry services in Atlanta and nationwide.
